Write Well.

Once upon a time there lived two friends in a village. They set out on a journey. The two friends were travelling through the forest. They knew that anything dangerous can happen to them at any time in the forest. So, they promised each other that they would remain united in any case of danger. Suddenly, they were chased by a bear. They both got frightened.

One of the friends hastily climbed the tree and hid himself there. But the other friend did not know how to climb. So he lay down on the ground breathless pretending to be dead man.

Meanwhile, the bear arrived there. He sniffed him all over. The bear thought the man was dead and went away as the bears do not touch dead creatures.

After that the one friend on the tree came down and asked him,

ear?" The other friend replied, "the bear advised me to beware of a selfish friend who does not help friends in time of need."

Moral - A friend in need is a friend indeed.
