COMPOSITION

The composition is about the two boys named Sam and Somesh. They both were very naughty. Last Monday, they both got into trouble as their maths teacher caught them for not doing their homework. He sent both Sam and Somesh to the principal's office. The principal punished both of them. They both were made to clean the school compound during their recess. Sam and Somesh both became angry and frustrated. They decided to take revenge from the principal by doing bad to him. So, they took a small sharp stone and started scratching the principal's car.

Suddenly, the principal looked out of the window of his office and got angry to the boys behaving suspiciously near his car. When the principal looked out of his office window, he could see the boys behaving suspiciously near his car. He went outside to investigate. He was surprised to see the boys scratching his new car. He was so angry that he marched the two boys to his office and called their parents. They both were suspended from school for a week. They realised their mistake and was sorry for what they did. They both apologized to the principal.
